Shot down OPP officer returns to work in Orillia

ORILLIA — OPP Const. Neil Hurtubise went back to work last week almost four months after being hit by five shots while stopping a car on Highway 11 on January 2. Another officer and a Burks Falls service station operator died in the trail of violence. Two teenagers have been charged.

A 16 year veteran of the force, Hurtubise 45, said he is feeling terrific and will be happy to be back on the beat. He spent close to a month in hospital here and was taking therapy until last Friday.

His wife Pat said while he may have a slight loss of strength in his left arm, he is well rested and probably in better shape than most policemen.

"He spent the last two months walking all over town and talking to everyone, Mrs. Hurtubise said, he's really enjoyed it.

Const. Hurtubise was in Toronto last week with OPP staff Sgt. Mike Mallon also of Orillia, to be welcomed back into the force by Commissioner H. H. Graham.

Mrs. Hurtubise said after the shooting Graham was in Orillia and spoke to her. "He (Graham) was visably upset and I felt he was genuinely concerned about the whole incident. He wasn't just speaking to me out of courtesy."

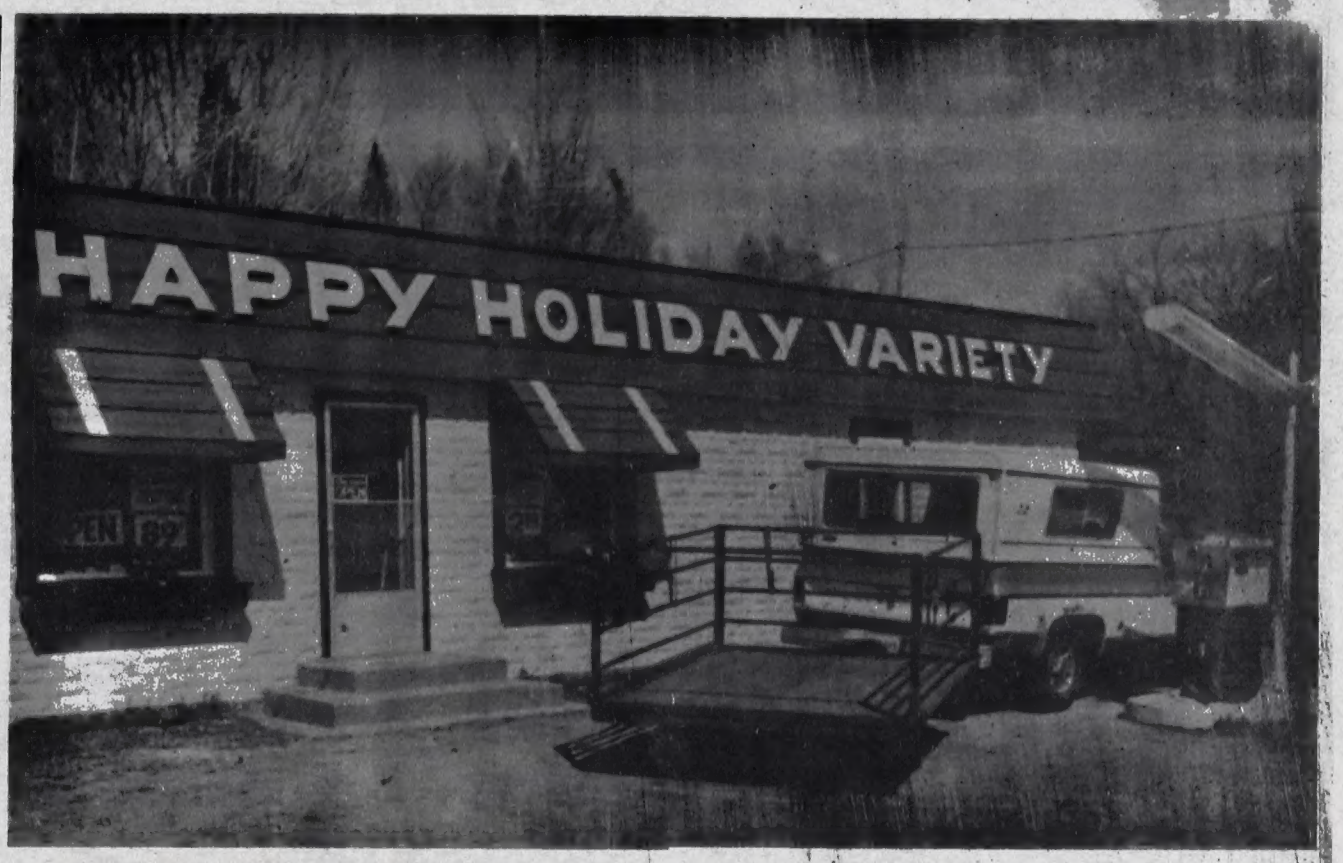
Asked about the fear of her husband being shot again, she said, "it's one of those things one just has to accept. He would be a fool if he didn't feel nervous about stopping a car again, but hopefully we will soon have two man patrol cars at night.

All you can do is hope for the best. You just have to pull up your socks and get on with it.' She added she hoped a practical bullet-proof vest can be found.

OPP TO HOLD SPRING DANCE

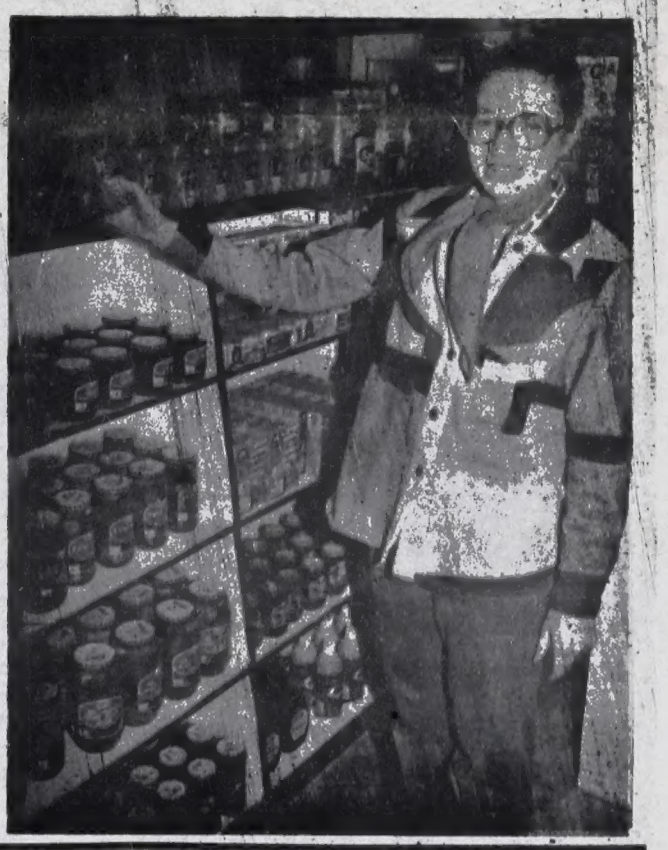
The Minden Detachment of the OPP are holding a fund raising spring dance on May 15th at 8:00 pm in the community centre. Cost is $12 per couple and proceeds of the dance will be going toward the Krista Verdecchia Education Fund.

Krista is the daughter of Rick Verdecchia, the OPP constable who was shot and killed near Huntsville last January 2nd.



Happy Holiday Variety gets new owners at Halls Lake

HALL'S LAKE — The return home of two native sons has resulted in Happy Holiday Variety at Hall's Lake on Hwy. 35 being purchased and re-opened for business by Paul and Gwen Harrison formerly of Carnarvon and Haliburton. Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville and Mary Harrison of Carnarvon and Gwen the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell and Mary Packard of Haliburton after having worked across Canada for the last eight years. Paul is employed by Bowers Printing Ink and has worked in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Montreal and is now at the Toronto office of this company as the In-Plant manager. He will continue to work at Bower's until the business gets on its feet. Gwen, a bookkeeper for Kershaw Manufacturing in Toronto, will be running their store. Holiday Variety is a brightly lite store containing a variety of items for the local consumers and cottagers.



Three injured in two car collision on Highway 121

MINDEN — OPP investigated the following occurances for the period of April 27 to May 3rd.

The staff investigated six reportable and two non-reportable motor vehicle collisions in which six person were injured.

The most serious of the above collisions occurred Thursday evening on Hwy. 121 near the Jehovah Witness Hall at 5:20 p.m. when three local Haliburton people were injured.

A 1965 model car which was eastbound and driven by Brenda Lee Ripley 24, of Guilford, was struck by another eastbound car. Ripley was taken to Peterborough Civic hospital with undetermined injuries.

The driver of the second vehicle was Pyllis Chuang 25, of Haliburton and she was taken to the local Red Cross hospital. Her passenger Robt Edward Luke of Minden was also treated at hospital for his injuries.

Police report no charges at this time. PC Al Barnes.

Minden store is burglarized $3000 in goods carried off

MINDEN — Sometime during the night of Friday May 1st, a person, still unknown, entered the premises of Northland Surplus on Minden's Main St and made off with over $3000 worth of fishing gear, watches and clothing.

Police report that entry was apparently made through a rear window and the small footprints left behind indicate a youthful offender was involved.

The break, enter and theft is being investigated by PC Al Bibby.

Canada Goose eggs are now headed for Arkansas

CORNWALL — Eggs of Canada Geese will be taken from nests along the St. Lawrence River to be transferred to Arkansas to establish a new flock of the birds there, Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope announced.

"We are pleased to co-operate in the Arkansas project because the St. Lawrence flock has grown to the point that there are potential problems between local recreationists or farmers and the Canada Goose flock. This project, we hope, will provide us with a means to control the size of our flock," Mr. Pope said.

"This spring, the Ministry's Cornwall District wildlife management staff are expected to transfer between 200 and 300 eggs in an initial step of a three-year project to move 800 Canada Goose eggs to Arkansas."

Staff will not take all of the eggs from any one nest.

The St. Lawrence flock is centred in and around the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary near Morrisburg, one of the better places in eastern Ontario to see Canada Geese up close in their natural habitat.

Police sketch leads to identification of youth

The body of a youth found in a swamp east of Kingston on March 30, has been identified by Ontario Provincial Police as Carman Bentley 17, of Belmont, Ontario, a small community south of London, Ontario.

Bentley was identified by a friend of the family who saw a composite drawing of him in a newspaper. The Express ran the sketch of the youth in the last issue.

Apparently the youth left his home on March 27 to hitch-hike to Montreal and his body was found by a trapper in the swamp three days later. Kingston Police wish anyone who may have seen Bentley on the road or game him a ride to contact them.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Amusement Park critics are not amused

Now that they are sure that the $122 million Canada's Wonderland, north of Toronto, is sure to open this spring, the critics are emerging like flies to feast upon it.

It's too American, they cry. It's P. T. Barnum and Ronald McDonald in one. It's 75 percent American owned.

And insult of insults, the Frontier Canada section won't be open because builders had to finish up the Hanna-Barbara Happyland first. It's not just by chance that these critics begin to sound off only after the park's commitment was assured.

Where were they when the plan was first produced? Only a relatively few people — mostly nearby Maple — objected to the plan then.

What the cowardly critics simply ignore is the fact that millions of people will get years of enjoyment from the park. Barnum was fun and Ronald McDonald is a sure fire winner in Canada.

These people don't especially care that it is an American owned attraction. And they would prefer the Happlyland character, Yogi Bear to Louis Reil anytime.

As for American ownership, where were the Canadians to produce such a park? Could they have done it half as well? Or, like the CBC, would they have become too much involved in nationalism and their own importance.

And who will object to the money Americans bring into Ontario as they too, come to see this mammoth fantasyland? Maybe if we see more of this kind of thing here, we won't be so anxious to spend so much Canadian money at Disneyworld in Florida.

Let the critics stay at home and boycott Canadas Wonderland. The rest of us will enjoy it.

Ontario again proclaims May as Family Unity month

TORONTO—For the sixth consecutive year, the Provincial Government has proclaimed May as Family Unity Month in Ontario.

And once again, Queen's Park is urging all families in the province to set aside time during May to do meaningful things together . . . to "show them how much you care".

In acknowledging the special role which the family plays in strengthening Ontario society, Provincial Secretary for Social Development Margaret Birch, also paid tribute to its rich diversity.

"Our society is comprised of families from many cultures around the world. By looking closely at how families from different cultural backgrounds work to achieve and sustain healthy family relationships, we can all learn more about family unity."

Mrs. Birch says, "by building on the strengths and talents of many diverse cultures, we can enrich Ontario society. We know the quality of community life begins at home, and as we work towards the common goal of strengthening the family unit, it's important that we both acknowledge and recognize the importance of our families."

This year, Family Unity Month coincides with International Year of Disabled Persons, and IYDP also has a special meaning for many families, according to Mrs. Birch.

"Approximately 800,000 people in Ontario — or 10 per cent of our population — have some form of mental or physical disability which makes day-to-day activities difficult to perform.

"The world-wide goal of disabled persons during IYDP is summed up in the United Nations theme — 'Full Participation and Equality'. In other words, the goal of disabled people is to be fully contributing members of society.

It is when abilities rather than disabilities are stressed within families that those who are disabled find the courage and determination to succeed, Mrs. Birch says. "During Family Unity Month this year, let's recognize disabled individuals and their families, and make it possible for the goal of full participation and equality to be realized.

Orchid Added to Ontario's Endangered Species List

The Small Whorled Pogonia, a species of wild orchid, has been added to Ontario's endangered species list, Ontario Minister of Natural Resources James Auld announced.

This orchid is known to occur in Canada at only one location in southwestern Ontario.

Two plants were present in 1980, down from five observed in 1978 and 1979, and four in 1977, when the species was first discovered in Ontario.

"This orchid is seriously depleted throughout its entire eastern North American range," said Mr. Auld.

"The current world population of the orchid is estimated to number between 150 and 175 plants, and protection is essential."

This latest addition brings to 14 the total number of species protected under Ontario's Endangered Species Act. The Small White Lady's-slipper is the only other plant on the endangered list.

Anyone who contravenes the Act by destroying or interfering with a protected species or its habitat is liable to a $3000 fine and/or imprisonment for six months

Dogs thwart rabbit thief

STANHOPE — At about 7:30 pm last Friday, Sharon Lynda Fritshaw looked out her window and saw a male person walking away from her barn with six rabbits by the ears.

She commanded her dogs to attack and the dogs killed two rabbits and wounded the thief who dropped the remaining rabbits and fled.

No suspect has been charged. PC Wood.

Municipal grants are based on census data — June 3rd, 1981

Census population figures are used to calculate the grants to municipalities which pay for services such as fire departments.

Municipalities, communities and neighbourhoods count on provincial funding, usually in the form of grants, to provide and maintain a variety of essential local services. Most provinces use census population figures when making municipal funding calculations.

According to a report by Statistics Canada, the federal department in charge of the June 3, 1981 Census, municipalities across the country spent $24.2 billion for local services in 1979.

Education accounted for 41 per cent of municipal government spending and was the leading local service cost in every province except Newfoundland.

In addition to education, local governments count on provincial funding for transportation and communications, police and fire protection, health services, social services, environment maintenance, regional planning and development, and recreation and cultural services.

Provincial funding to municipal governments for such services is often allocated on a per-capita basis. An undercount of the population on June 3 can affect local taxes or level of municipal services.

Alan Cooke, research officer for the Alberta Department of Municipal Affairs, says census figures are used for about one-third of the province's municipal funding calculations.

Mr. Cooke says the province used census population statistics to calculate some municipal per-capita grants of $500 in early 1979.

Ontario also uses census figures for local government funding calculations and to check the accuracy of its own annual assessment count, says Jim Ferrington of the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs. Ontario local governments spend the lion's share of funding on education, transportation, communications, health services, police and fire protection.

During the course of a year, 141 municipal governments in British Columbia receive about $130 million worth of provincial grants calculated with census figures, says Ken MacLeod, Director of Research for the Ministry of Municipal Affairs.

Newfoundland, unlike most provinces, has its municipal health services, police protection and education costs paid for directly by the provincial government. Municipalities in Canada's youngest province receive a "blanket" per-capita grant based on census population figures, says the Deputy Minister of the Department of Municipal Affairs. Clarence Randell says a small fishing village of 200 people would receive about $1,000 while the provincial capital of St. John's would be granted about $87,000 under the current "blanket" per-capita funding scheme.

"Froward," a dialectic form of "fromward," is the opposite of "toward" and gives us the expression of "to and fro." It also means "obstinate" or "petulant." The word is used more than 20 times in the Bible but chiefly in Proverbs.

15 yr. old 5 pin sensation Connie Dreher in Edmonton

Before she's finished, Connie Dreher is likely to become recognized as the best female five pin bowler ever produced in Canada.

The Hamilton youth has already won four national championships and a host of provincial titles. She has the verve of a champion, nerves of steel and at 5 ft. 7" and 150 pounds, she's not likely to tire in the closing frames.

Connie will face one of the stiffest tests of her career this weekend when 276 competitors in the YBC line up for the national youth bowling championships. Dreher has graduated to the senior competition this year and she will not face a younger opponent (18 and under).

Since the inception of this tournament 17 years ago, no one has ever won a gold medal in all three age groups and no one has ever won five national championships. She proved she can bowl with the seniors when she placed first in the Ontario championships.

Toronto will be represented by bantams David Biscardi and Audrey Latto, plus David Sparrow in seniors, who each placed first in Southern Ontario. More than 71,000 young bowlers participated in playdowns across the country attempting to qualify for the national.

CONNIE DOES IT — The teenage sensation of the 5 pin bowling world has done it. Connie Dreher has won her fifth national bowling title at the tender age of 15. She also became the first YBC bowler to ever win all three divisions in the National finals. Connie has won the bantam and junior twice and now in her first attempt in the senior division in Edmonton on Saturday she won a sudden-death tie breaker victory over Winnipeg's Kym Allen, giving her her fifth gold medal in six years at the Nationals. Congratulations.

Missing Links were winners of Vankoughnet league for '81

Bowling for the Vankoughnet Mixed league ended April 23 following three weeks of playoffs. The banquet was held on Saturday, May 1st at the Stanhope Community Hall.

Winners for the third series were the Missing Links, consisting of Pauline Venn, George Venn, Lou Conway, Ray Conway, Nelson Baird and Brenda Salmon. They advanced to the A series of the playoffs against the winners of series 1 and 2 who were the Black River Gang and The Rinky Dinks.

Winners of the A series playoffs were the Missing Links with a pinfall of 9311. The other three teams being Mark Six, Odd Balls and Lucky Strikes competed for the consolation trophy.

The winners with a very small margin of 22 pins over the second place team were the Odd Balls consisting of Herman Bosley, Inez Bosley, Byron Lambert, Evelyn Lambert, Rab Walls and Lillian Walls.

The total pin fall for the year went to the Black River Gang consisting of Martin Conway, Susan Salmon, Marilyn Terry, Ruth Johnson, Jim Terry and Karen Terry.

MINDEN — The 25th Anniversary of the local Kinsmen Club was held at the Community Centre on Saturday evening. More than 130 people attended for the celebrations, including National vice-president, and next year's National president, Bruce Glass of Lindsay. Also in attendance were charter and former members of the club, from as far away as Belleville and Cobourg. The evening commenced with a social hour and dinner and was highlighted by the presentation of two Life Memberships. The first was given to Mr. Peter Dollo left, and the other to Mr. Don Nye. Both Mrs. Dollo and Mrs. Nye were presented with beautiful copper serving trays. These were the first two life memberships awarded to Minden Kinsmen in more than 17 years. Mr. Lyle McKnight and Mr. Eldon Deacon received their Life Pins in 1964.

MINISTRY SURVEYS LANDOWNERS

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is undertaking a mail survey of rural, private landowners in the whole province. Questions pertaining to many aspects of the Ministry's mandate in natural resources management, which covers wildlife, fisheries, minerals, forests, recreation, and land use in general, are included in the survey. Other questions deal with the attitudes and motivations behind the landowner's varied land use practices with particular emphasis on woodlands.

The survey includes five per cent of the landowners in southern Ontario who have a minimum of 50 acres and ten per cent of the landowners in northern Ontario with the same minimal acreage qualification. There are some 23.5 million acres of private land in southern Ontario which comprises about 13 per cent of the province's total land area. While the survey covers less than 10 per cent of Ontario total land area, 80 per cent of the privately-owned land in the province is located in southern Ontario. However, approximately 44 per cent of private forest land is located in the north's 20 per cent of the province's private land.

The survey is attempting to gather information about several of the landowner's social and economic characteristics and learn of his attitudes toward land and woodlot management. The results of the survey will provide private landowners information on a uniform basis which will be beneficial to the Ministry. The results will be used in establishing improved government services and may lead to new conservation and land management programs helpful to the owner.

The focus of the survey is the use being made of existing forestry programs on private land in Ontario. This survey is a small part of a comprehensive review of the Ministry's private land forestry program. It will contribute substantially to a green paper on the subject to be presented by the Government of Ontario for discussion by the public next year.

A previous survey was conducted in 1969 by the former Department of Lands and Forests. This earlier survey was limited to southern Ontario, and this year's results will be compared with those of the 1969 survey for changes in landownership and their characteristics.

For the Ministry of Natural Resources, the survey will provide a measure of the reforestation potential, timber availability for industrial development from private land, and the degree of landowner familiarity with various government services and programs. One of these is The Woodlands Improvement Act assistance program which was initiated in 1966.

The 12,400 landowners who are receiving the mail questionnaire during April and May, are encouraged to answer it completely and return it to the Ministry so that the results will be statistically significant.

Questions related to completed of this questionnaire should be directed to the District Manager, Ministry of Natural Resources, Minden, Ontario, K0M 2K0. Telephone (705) 286-1521.
